Alzheimer Scotland

The word 'dementia' describes a set of symptoms that may include memory loss, and difficulties with thinking, problem-solving or language.

Dementia is caused when the brain is damaged by diseases, such as Alzheimer's disease or a series of strokes. Alzheimer's disease is the most common cause of dementia, but not the only one.

Alzheimer Scotland is the leading dementia organisation in Scotland. They campaign for the rights of people with dementia and provide an extensive range of innovative and personalised support services, community activities, information and advice.

Friendship & dementia

As part of BAUK's sustainability plan for 2017, a bake sale was held on Friday 2nd June to help raise funds on behalf of Alzheimer Scotland in aid of Dementia Awareness Week.

Many of the BAUK team have shown their support and commitment to this cause by personally baking cakes to help raise money for this charity. The team displayed flags and balloons around the office, wore purple clothing, and made charitable donations. The whole team enjoyed getting together for the 'tea & blether,' where the cakes were enjoyed by all, and the proceeds of the baking sale raised a grand total of £144.77 GBP to be donated to the chosen charity.

Ian Ramsey, FPSO Operations HSSEQ General Manager, was visiting the Aberdeen office, and BAUK were delighted he was able to join the team to support the event. Ian commented: "The event was wonderful and the proceeds will be given to a cause, dementia, that we can all relate to in one way or another.... may I take this opportunity to thank everyone..."
